

The Gift of Today

I feel so lucky when I wake up in the morning
And the birds are singing, "welcome new day"
I'm happy when I see the sun is shining through the window
Beckoning all to come and play.

I thank all those who take such care of me,
Making sure I wrap up warm in the cold
We need to take good care of one another,
helping all of us through, as we grow old.

Celebrate! Celebrate!
Make it a day that we can say:
Celebrate! Celebrate!
Celebrate the gift of today!

I know the world is sad in many places,
People struggling hard just to survive,
Where there is war and hatred I just pray
The hope of reconciliation stays alive

Imagine a world where every man, woman, child,
Could live their lives not being so fearful every day
Imagine a time when everybody in this world
Can wake up ev'ry morning able to say:

Celebrate! Celebrate!
Make it a day that we can say:
Celebrate! Celebrate!
Celebrate the gift of today!